FEATURES

- › 347 deluxe guestrooms and 53 unique suites boasting remarkable views of the Washington Marina and the city's famed monuments—some featuring terraces with water views and overlooking the hotel's Asian-inspired garden.
- › All guestrooms feature deluxe bedding and unique fabrics including silk duvet covers. Furniture placement was designed utilizing the principles of feng shui to ensure maximum comfort and the positive flow of energy.
- › Expansive bathrooms with soaking tub and separate shower.
- › Three dual-line telephones featuring voicemail, wireless and wired Internet; high-definition televisions with over 90 channels including international and local programming, DVD players, iPod docking stations, and an in-room safe large enough for a laptop computer.
- › The Spa at Mandarin Oriental, Washington D.C., is a tranquil oasis spanning 10,000 square feet, offering unique experiences to soothe the body and mind. Our treatment rituals and facilities take advantage of our unique surroundings by offering seasonal treatments and a fitness center that overlooks the Jefferson Memorial. The spa boasts a 50-foot, indoor lap pool and Mandarin Oriental's Heat and Water Experience, offering a vitality pool, dry sauna, amethyst crystal steam rooms and serene relaxing lounges, and specially designed packages to suit the busy lifestyle of those visiting the most powerful city in the world.

- › Making a reservation at CityZen—Washington, D.C.'s only Five Diamond Restaurant — means that you will dine in one of the best restaurants in America. Food & Wine magazine voted CityZen one of the “Hottest Restaurants in the World,” and Eric Ziebold one of “America's Best New Chefs.” Ziebold is also the recipient of the James Beard Award for “Best Chef Mid-Atlantic 2008.” The cuisine is Modern American, and the environment is a sleek and contemporary yet comfortable space with soaring ceilings and an open kitchen.
- › Empress Lounge is a sunken enclave located just off the rotunda lobby and boasts an outdoor terrace, access to the hotel's outdoor garden, and a list of more than 35 specialty cocktails. Recognized as one of the “Top Five Places to Hear Live Jazz” by Washingtonian magazine, this is the place to “see and be seen” on Friday and Saturday nights. Floor-to-ceiling windows fill the room with natural light, the perfect place to enjoy our interpretation of the classic afternoon tea.
- › 38,000 square feet of flexible event space featuring a luxurious ballroom with the capacity to seat 700 guests, intimate garden terrace event spaces with floor-to-ceiling windows and outdoor access, and an expansive event lawn overlooking the Washington Marina.

LOCATION Located in the southwest quadrant of the city, overlooking the Jefferson Memorial and its famed cherry trees • Steps from the National Mall, Metrorail system, Smithsonian Castle and Galleries • Features a footbridge to the Jefferson Memorial and Tidal Basin, making it the only hotel in the city with direct access to national monuments

The Spa at Mandarin Oriental

MANDARIN ORIENTAL, WASHINGTON D.C.

Arrive at Mandarin Oriental, Washington D.C., overlooking the Southwest Waterfront, and you know you have arrived somewhere special. The grand facade and unique porte cochere beckon. Walk through its doors and take in a sea of marble, limestone and glass. The lobby is inspired by the work of John Russell Pope, designer of the Jefferson Memorial, and boasts the familiar domed ceiling and column placement of the neighboring memorial. The columns are American walnut capped by American white oak, and the patterned Emperador and Amarillo yellow marble floor beneath a rotunda of gold and silver leaf is as striking as it is serene.

EMPRESS LOUNGE

Just beyond the circular lobby is the Empress Lounge, a sunken enclave with inviting lounge chairs resplendent with rich, warm tones. A wall of glass looks over the tranquil Zen garden. All is under the watchful eye of the Empress Dowager, who is depicted in a gigantic oil painting that looms over the lounge. Dressed in a traditional Chinese kimono and swinging playfully over the District of Columbia, the work was commissioned by the hotel and is a reproduction of an original work depicting the Empress swinging above the Forbidden City of Beijing. The lounge also features an expansive flagstone patio for alfresco seating.

GUESTROOMS AND SUITES

Guestrooms and suites delight visitors with décor that fuses Asian simplicity with traditional touches, all set against the hotel's signature water and city views. Several layouts are made possible by the unique shape of the hotel, with deluxe guestrooms measuring between 400 to 700 square feet. The three-bedroom Presidential Suite comes in at 3,500 square feet, and was named one of "World's Greatest Suites" by Elite Traveler. Panoramic views from oversized windows stretch across the city, offering vistas of The National Cathedral, Lincoln Memorial, Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington Cemetery, the Pentagon, Washington Memorial, and the Jefferson Memorial with its tranquil Tidal Basin and famed cherry trees.

LOCATION. LOCATION. LOCATION.

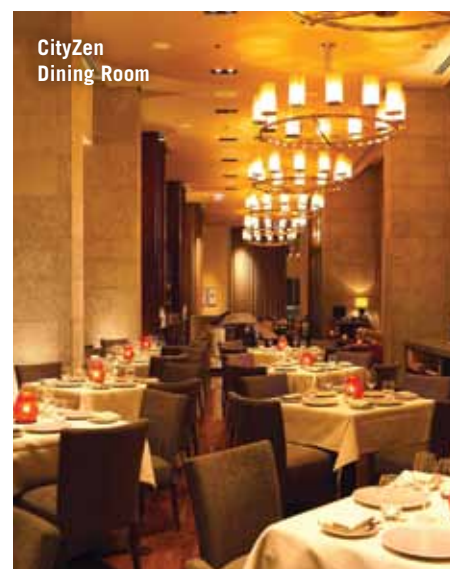

Steps from the National Mall and the city's efficient Metrorail system, 10 minutes from Ronald Reagan Airport and five minutes from Union Station, Mandarin Oriental is situated in an ideal location convenient to ground and air transportation and the sights of Washington, D.C. Guests can choose to stroll across the hotel footbridge to the Jefferson Memorial and Tidal Basin, the only hotel in the city with direct access to the national monuments. The museums of the Smithsonian Institution await just two short blocks from the hotel, and the Lincoln Memorial, Washington Monument, Waterfront and the Capitol Building are all just a stroll away.

WORKS OF ART

The hotel features its own gallery that showcases works from local and internationally recognized artists. Shows are in residence for three to four months, and have featured paintings, photography and sculptured pieces.
